

HALDRUP SP-35

Precision Seeder

MODULARITY MEETS PRECISION

The HALDRUP SP-35 is a modular precision planter designed to deliver outstanding versatility and durability in agricultural research applications. At its core is a compact, high-performance Monosem planting unit, engineered for reliable operation under a wide range of field conditions.

The modular system allows for flexible configuration of row number, row spacing, and a variety of equipment options – including fertilizer placement and microgranule application. With its high-precision singulation system and accurate seed placement, the HALDRUP SP-35 is ideally suited for crops such as corn, carrots, cereals, or peas.

Key features include hydraulic adjustment of the coulters, a low-maintenance drive system, and the integration of advanced electronics for optimal control and monitoring.

The HALDRUP SP-35 stands for dependable performance, precise seed placement, and maximum adaptability – both in professional field trials and practical on-farm use.
